Greetings from the Coronet

Greetings from Edward and Annalies, Baron and Baroness of this glorious Barony of Atenveldt.

It was an honor to participate in crown tournament. We celebrate the Crown and Crown Princess and look forward to Coronation. Baronial Birthday was a fabulous event. We were so happy to see and visit with so many people. We also attended a very relaxing chocolate revel. Thanks to Brimstone for hosting such a fine event.

Looking forward, we are happy to announce that we have been hard at work with our cousins in Twin Moons to make the upcoming Champions / Defenders event one to remember. We look forward to seeing all of you this coming weekend at Kingdom A&S and the following weekend at our casting day. We will then be ready for October 22, 23, 24, where we will choose champions, feast, celebrate elevations, and enjoy the nightlife that only an event like this can bring.

Recently, Edward traveled to the Kingdom of the Outlands and visited with Sir William Flannigan, Thegn of our own home, The Barony of Atenveldt. In Sir Williams great room, on a table conveniently visible to any visitor was a book. This book held a history of Atenveldt and in it was a marker to allow one to find that time and place where the Kingdom of the Outlands was born. He sends his thoughts to all who know him.

Until we once again get the chance to write,

Edward and Annalies, Baron and Baroness of the Premier Barony of the known world, Atenveldt

A Suggested Time Table for any Future, First Time Autocrats

From a first time autocrat that learned
the hard way and is still learning

BY: Lord Jean Andre' Boeye'

This is an overview of all the suggestions made to me by those far more experienced to correct my rookie mistakes before, during and after the event. There were many people that helped me along the way and the after the event autocrat staff meeting was truly enlightening. This is where I learned the most. I have also had several people make suggestions since the event to help me streamline the process in the future and this is by no means my work, but a collection of all the good advice that I received. Some of it took repeated reminders from several people who will be thanked at the end of this article to finally get through.

The first thing I will say is that the time table can be condensed if you have the staff to do so by shortening things from 10 months down to eight. Just take everything from the list for 10 months, 9 months, and 8 months and do all of it in the 8 month area. You should not attempt to condense it down any further because this would make it very difficult to get the bid completed and turned in on time. You will also find that you want to be able to spread things out and double check yourselves as often as possible between the time the bid is approved and two months before the event.

8 months before event:

First week: give staff and yourself a week off and time to gather the information that they will need to complete their assigned task.

Second week: Gather all information and compare notes. If somebody thinks they can come up with a better price on something, give them a week to find it. As a group, start working on an extreme rough draft of the article you will need for publication. Thank your staff.

Third week: Another staff meeting. Start working on rough draft of the budget form. You can find out average attendance at your event in past years by contacting the exchequer. Always presume on at least 10% less participation when figuring out your budget in the income area but figure on at least 10% more participation when deciding how many site favors to make. Thank your staff.

Fourth Week: Get event registration application form, event budget forms, cash advance forms, and cash voucher/reimbursement forms from the exchequer, deputy exchequer or on line. Check with best three sites to make sure that they are still available and at the price you were originally quoted. Finalize your plans, Time to get the bid in is very quickly running out. Finish rough draft for your article. Thank your staff one more time.

I Remember When...

By Gwendolyn the Beguine

I remember, several years ago, an Estrella War when the weather was perfect and it was still at Estrella Park. It was probably a Saturday night. The sun had just set, the fires were lit throughout the encampment and the drums were coming alive. It wasn't quite dark. My sister and I were settling into comfy camp chairs having served dinner to our families and gotten the clean-up done. We wrapped our capes around our shoulders as the chill crept into the air.

Our husbands had decided to go on walk-about as after-dinner entertainment, but Elspeth and I were homebodies and most comfortable with chatting and poking the fire. We welcomed company if they hailed us from the edge of the campsite, but if no one hailed we were just as happy listening to the sounds of revelry around us and resting after a long full day.

In one of those lulls in conversation, Elspeth lifted her head listening intently. "What?" I asked.

"Do you hear that?" she whispered.

"Hear wha...? Oh!" Ever so faintly, off in the distance, we heard the sound of bag pipes calling. The chill at the moment had nothing to do with temperature and everything to do with stories of bag pipes being played hauntingly in the wilds, out of sight, away from authorities who had outlawed them.

We listened for a few moments and then Elspeth turned to me and said, "Let's go find them!"

We scrambled out of the chairs, gathered up what we thought we might want with us and set out in the direction of the calling pipes. As we hurried along, we stopped frequently trying to orient ourselves. Soon it was completely dark and we were navigating from one campfire to another. The roads frequently refused to take us closer to our quarry and several times the player fell silent and we were lost.

During one of those spaces of time, when the pipes had ceased to call, we found ourselves outside an encampment whose blazing bonfire lured us in like moths. Twenty or thirty people were gathered around the blaze and a speaker held the group enthralled. He seemed a wildman. Shoulder length red hair, dry as straw and unruly, covered his head. He wore a tartan and a blouse that had once been white and with wild gestures he told a story that I honestly cannot remember today.

The memory that indelibly printed itself on my consciousness was that of the group, the speaker, the firelight, the distinct impression that somehow I had stepped through a crack in time and found myself at a fire that had existed 1000 years ago.

That is the magic of SCA for me. The loosening of the fabric of time.

*Greetings from your Acting
Baronial Chronicler*

To the populace of the Barony of Atenveldt,

I want to take this opportunity to thank all those creative people who sent me fodder for the latest monthly newsletter for the Barony. There are lots of interesting bits to read, gaze upon and think about in this issue. I had a really good time putting this issue together.

As always, please, send me whatever the Muses inspire you create: Music, poetry, drawings, photographs, instruction manuals. I have added a Social Page. This is where we can keep track of births, deaths and marriages. Please keep me in the loop.

From Lord Michael Sinestro - Bardic Champion of the Barony of Atenveldt:

To the tune of 'Edelweiss'

Atenveldt, Atenveldt
Born in A.S. three
Whate'er they swear in Tir Ysgithr
We're the oldest barony
Desert flower of grace and power
We raise our glasses high
A toast heartfelt, for Atenveldt
Jewel of the desert sky

To the tune of 'Little Brown Jug'

We celebrate and toast with glee
The Knowne Worlde's oldest barony
And feast and drink with joy heartfelt
In honor of fair Atenveldt

CHORUS

Oh what joy, oh what fun
Atenveldt is forty-one
Oh what joy, oh what fun
Atenveldt is forty-one

As we recall our history
Starting way back in A.S. three
And look at where we are today
Huzzah! The dream is here to stay
CHORUS

Yet we recall and quake with fear
At what befell this time last year
The Coronets put out the call
Let no siege engines in the hall
CHORUS (x2)

BARONIAL

WA

-Baronial Chronicler & Deputy-

Can you think outside the box? Do you have a somewhat organized mind? Do you enjoy a creative challenge? Then I have the job for you. The Barony of Atenveldt is seeking a new Chronicler to begin immediately and this could be you. Previous desktop publishing experience a plus, but not necessary (will happily train). Good people skills are a bonus that makes it easier to get articles every month. The right individual needs to be willing to put together and distribute the Palm Prints on a monthly basis and oversee the yearly Baronial Book of Days calendar.

Interested individuals should email chronicler@baronyofatenveldt.org or contact their Excellencies and/or the Seneschal directly.

-Baronial Exchequer & Deputy-

This is a two-year warranted position. The Baronial Exchequer reports to the Kingdom Exchequer, and is in charge of all financial activities for Baronial accounts. The Baronial Exchequer compiles financial information & reports to the Baronial Financial Committee. The position requires an ability to tactfully work with Baronial Officers and members of the populace; an understanding of the implementation of SCA financial guidelines in the Society Financial Policy, Baronial Law and Baronial financial policy; strong writing and organizational skills; word processing and email skills; and a computer and printer with Internet access (most communication is via email). Prior experience as a Exchequer or Officer for a Local group is very helpful, as is real-world management and personnel experience.

Applications should include an SCA resume, and an outline of applicable real world experience.

Send copies to: the Exchequer of the Barony of Atenveldt
<exchequer@baronyofatenveldt.org>.

In addition, a filled out Warrant of Appointment to Financial Office Form (found on the www.sca.org website at <http://www.sca.org/docs>), and the documents requested by that form, (picture ID and proof of membership), must also be sent to the Kingdom of Atenveldt Exchequer.

NT ADS

-Baronial A&S Ministry & Deputy-

The Office of Minister of Arts and Sciences is responsible for fostering the study of period culture and technology, and methods for producing historically accurate artifacts and performances. His/her duties include promoting the dissemination of accurate information about the fields under study. It is also the responsibility of the Minister of Arts and Sciences to help organize demonstrations, exhibitions, competitions, classes, workshops or deputies can do this. By all means do not feel you have to take on this job without help.

Every local A & S Officer must submit monthly reports summarizing the activities of the local group and local members. Being accessible to the Barony and keeping the populace educated about what is happening both locally and at the Kingdom level is a vital part of the job. Another important part of an A & S Officers' duty is communication with artisans so that each gets the help and recognition that is needed. The A & S Officer is responsible for promoting all aspects of the Arts and Sciences including period-inspired creativity, scholarly research or authentic research. Anyone who shows an interest in the arts and sciences should be encouraged through competitions, displays, teaching or performing, to name a few. The A & S Officer should also help at Kingdom A & S events and Collegiums whenever possible and actively recruit participants and teachers. Interested individuals should email arts@baronyofatenveldt.org or contact their Excellencies and/or the Seneschal directly.

-Ministry of the Lists-

This brave individual must be willing to run all aspects of a tournament list. From bullying people into signing in for a tournament, with their fighters' cards, to working with the vocal herald during the tournament, and finally to the organized end of declaring the victor. Interested persons should contact their Excellencies or the Seneschal.

-Chancellor of the Youth-

Wanted to provide diversions at events, coordinate smalls, and have an all around "cheery disposition".

-Keeper of the Ropes-

This individual should be able to set-up, tear-down, transport and store the ropes for the Barony's weekly fighter practice.

-Regalia Officer-

This individual should be able store and/or tow the Baronial trailer with included Regalia. As well as, keep an inventory of the Regalia.

-Deputies for all Major Offices-

"Many hands make work light," and every office in the Barony could use a deputy. It is also a great way to learn about a position before taking the job yourself.

If you wish to submit your letter of intent, or have any questions regarding any of the offices, please send deputy inquires to the appropriate office (contact information listed in the front of this issue), all other inquiries may be sent to:

The Strange Stone of Dog Falls

By Lord Leo

Chapter 1:

In the year of our lord 1644 the world was at war. In Europe, the Spanish and Holy Roman church were in brutal battle with the French, the Dutch, the Austrian and so many different factions that it would be pointless to name. For thirty years they had been fighting, burning and destroying each other. England, Scotland, Ireland and Wales were torn asunder by the great Rebellion which, of course, put in check the authority of the British crown. Though Scotland was deeply involved in these wars the common folk of the Highlands had had enough of war and battle and lived quietly in the Caledonian forests. There they practiced the art of distilling whiskey, raising sheep and fishing. In these Highlands, there used to lay a small village known as Dog Falls. The remains of it still can be seen today. This village is as old as the land itself. It is a quiet place that lays some thirty miles from the township of Glen Cannich. Today, nothing much remains of Dog Village for most of the remnants have long since left. Most of them were arrested for running their whiskey stills, while others left for the Americas and for brighter futures for their children. Of that which remains of the small village there is a curious stone that is both a monstrosity to gaze upon and a curiosity as well. This is the true story of that stone as was told to me by a man who watches over it.

In 1644, Dog Falls, was a place of harmony. To the South of the village lays a peat bog, to the North, a mighty mountain which has been renamed as many times as there have been people to visit this lonesome desolate place. To the East lies a loch, or lake that is filled with trout and good place for a city man to rest his weary bones after a life consumed with business.

Dog Falls was little more than a collection of straw roofed huts in which drovers, on their way to Glen Cannich, would rest their flocks. In this small village was a single wealthy family whose line was descended from the High Lords of Scotland. They, though not wishing to partake on either side of the current wars, had given up their titles and lived primarily off of droving. They made their wealth by selling beeves and sheep to both the parliamentary side and the Royalist side of the wars and was blamed by neither for staying out of the conflicts. Their name was Baughsley and like others of their kind they preferred a good whiskey and a warm fire compared to the blasting winds of the moor and the screams of war.

This family had four children; three of them were of the age to work and drove

Fast food

By

The Anachronistic Epicurean

I thought that covering the Mediterranean region for medieval food would be easy... some falafel, hummus and lamb, an abundance of nutmeg and call it a Palm Prints foodie fest. But no, I find out that the Mediterranean region had all kinds of food fetishes.

Because the Catholic Church held such sway over the area the everyday people really only ate about half of the year. There was of course the fast for Lent, but in addition to that they fasted before taking the Eucharist, after taking the Eucharist while performing penance and whenever else the Church decided people just shouldn't eat or shouldn't eat specific things. Medieval Mediterraneans spent much of their time fasting..

The dietary restrictions placed on the common folk led to a wonderful quote from Bridget Ann Henisch – “It is the nature of man to build the most complicated cage of rules and regulations in which to trap himself, and then, with equal ingenuity and zest, to bend his brain to the problem of wriggling triumphantly out again. Lent was a challenge; the game was to ferret out the loopholes.”

So what do people eat when they're fasting? One of the ways out of the cage was called Illusion Food. A cook might take the flesh of a fish and with almond paste and other sticky substances sculpt it into the shape of a boar so eating only fish wouldn't be so bleak. Or they would create fowl by emptying a chicken skin and stuffing it with nuts and breads, figs and other fruits and roast it.

The only contemporary equivalents I could come up with were items like gummy bears. Gummy bears aren't made out of bear meat but they do look like bears. Perhaps a Long Island Iced Tea is also an illusion food. I suppose ginger bread men could count as well, or cakes baked in shape of cars, footballs, even sex organs. Now, this doesn't mean you should make a boob cake and call it authentic medieval cookery because you'd probably just have to do penance and not be allowed to eat anything, let alone your delicious chocolate hooters.

The amount of effort and money that cooks put into their illusion foods make them prohibitive for war fare, but if you'd like to experiment at home in the hopes of presenting at a feast one day there is a great website that will provide you with doable authentic recipes. Godecookery.com is an amazing web location for those of us foodies with an authenticity fetish.

So, thanks for the opportunity to learn something and find a great website but unfortunately I find I must resort to falafel, hummus and lamb for my Mediterranean suggestions. There are several good box mixes for falafel on the grocery store shelves. Be sure to read the back carefully to ascertain if other ingredients are required. They can be cooked in olive oil in your cast iron fry pan over the open fire, tossed into a pita with some lettuce and onion. An easy and tasty sauce made from cucumbers, yogurt and mint or dill can be made ahead of time at home and kept cold. This can be used for falafel or little meatballs of ground lamb seasoned with nutmeg that can also be served in pita. I use two cucumbers for every three cups of yogurt for Tzatziki sauce. It's recommended to drain the yogurt and the cucumbers in a colander with a coffee filter to reduce the runniness of the sauce but it's not necessary. Just remove the seeds from the cucumbers, put in a blender or food processor and then combine with the yogurt. Add the dill or mint to taste.

My hummus recipe is equally as easy. One can of garbanzo beans – also known as chick peas – a dollop or two of sesame Tahini and several cloves of garlic in the same blender makes a nice thick hummus. Blend the hummus with chopped scallions and a small can of chopped black olives and serve with pita cut into triangles for a lunch or snack. If you are really ambitious a disposable roasting pan loaded with Moussaka also makes an impressive feast dish. Moussaka is basically Greek lasagna made with lamb, eggplant, a white sauce and seasoned with nutmeg, allspice or cinnamon rather than the basil, oregano, tomato dishes we now call Italian food. Basically with food from the Aegean region, if you cook what you like – beef, chicken, fish – and sprinkle it with a bit of “pumpkin pie spice” the result will be familiar food with an unfamiliar vibration, just enough to mark the event of being at war, in character and far from home and yet provide the familiarity that brings comfort and peace to the hungry warrior.

Speaking of comfort foods, did you know noodles were invented 2000 years before the birth of Christ in Asia? What we refer to today as pasta is made from high gluten semolina flour and was a real late comer on the scene – we’re talking the second century AD. I have found that if I cook pasta ahead of time and as I’m draining it I douse it with olive oil it will save quite nicely in a large zip lock bag. At the site of the war if you coat your cast iron fry pan with a bit of olive oil, sauté up some scallops, shrimp, or white fish with garlic powder, add your precooked noodles and some fresh spinach from a bag you picked up from your produce section and serve with a hunk of bread and expensive butter it makes a great meal - easy to prepare and good for you too. Just add some basil and oregano instead of the warming spices found in Greece and you are on the Italian peninsula. You can toss the remainder of the spinach with some feta/blue/gorgonzola or Gruyere cheese, olives, olive oil and lemon juice the next day for a pleasant lunch and still be period correct.

One of the considerations for foods like this is transport and spoilage. Something not many people know is that olive oil is an incredibly hardy food. It literally takes six months for it to go rancid at room temperature, so don’t be afraid to utilize this wonderful food for all your camping needs. The yogurt sauce? Put it with your beer in a tight Tupperware. Fish? Freeze it solid, rock hard, and transport it in a small cooler loaded with ice or buy it canned. With some preparation Mediterranean feasting at the war should be cake, boob cake.

Ye Olde News

By Lord Leo

Salve Atenveldt:

It's your friendly neighborhood Roman here and I would like to start this month's history lesson with an apology.

For those of you who were offended by last month's history lesson regarding the Huguenots being slaughtered by the Catholics in France. I apologize; I did not mean to insinuate that the Church and those who practice Catholicism today are anything like those who practiced it in the 1500's. Also to clarify one small thing, the Huguenots were allegedly planning a civil war in France. Though the action taken by the ruling Catholics was a bit rough we must remember that life back then was tough and more so if you were trying to overthrow the crown. History could have easily been re written with the Phrase (Huguenots drag Catholics out of their homes and kill them!)

With that out of the way let's see what happened in September!

1. September 2, 31 B.C. - Roman legions under Augustus Caesar defeated Mark Anthony's naval force at Actium.
2. September 2, 1666 - The Great Fire of London began in a bakery in Pudding Lane near the Tower. Over the next three days more than 13,000 houses were destroyed, although only six lives were believed lost.
3. September 4, 1609 - The island of Manhattan was discovered by navigator Henry Hudson.
4. Queen Elizabeth I (1533-1603) was born in Greenwich Palace. She was the daughter of King Henry VIII and Anne Boleyn. She ascended the throne in 1558 at age 25. During her reign, Britain became a world power by defeating the Spanish Armada. The Anglican Church was also fully established
5. September 8, 1565 - The first Catholic settlement in America was founded by Spaniard Don Pedro Menendez de Aviles at St. Augustine, Florida.
6. September 16, 1620 - The Mayflower ship departed from England, bound for America with 102 passengers and a small crew. The ship weathered dangerous Atlantic storms and reached Provincetown, Massachusetts on November 21st. The Pilgrims disembarked at Plymouth on December 26th.
7. September 23 - Autumn (Sept. 23-Dec. 21) begins in the Northern Hemisphere with the autumnal equinox, at 1:37 a.m. EDT. In the Southern Hemisphere today is the beginning of spring.
8. September 25, 1513 - Spanish explorer Vasco Nunez de Balboa first sighted the Pacific Ocean after crossing the Isthmus of Panama
9. September 25, 1690 - The first American newspaper was published. A single edition of Public Occurrences Both Foreign and Domestic appeared in Boston, Massachusetts. However, British authorities considered the newspaper offensive and ordered its immediate suppression.

10. September 28, 1066 - The Norman conquest of England began as Duke William of Normandy landed at Pevensey, Sussex.

11. September 28, 1542 - California was discovered by Portuguese navigator Juan Rodriguez Cabrillo upon his arrival at San Diego Bay.

Well folks that's about all for September! If you have any questions or comments feel free to email me at leotariou@yahoo.com

Barony of Atenveldt

Champions' Requirements

Hear Ye! HearYe!

Know all who hear these words that Edward and Annalies, Baron and Baroness of the Grand Barony of Atenveldt will soon host many and varied competitions to choose new Champions suitable for the Barony. Let it be known that Peers of the Chivalry, the Laurels and the Pelicans are welcome to enter these competitions with intent to become our Baronial Champion.

General Rules

The current Champions may not succeed him/herself, but previous Champions are encouraged to enter.
Pre-registration is encouraged. Entrants may also register on the day of the Competition before registration closes.

ALL SHOULD:

- Know basic heraldry such as colors, basic shapes, one's personal heraldry, and those used by the Barony and Kingdom of Atenveldt.
- Be a paid member of the Society.
- Enjoy promoting the area for which they would be Champion.
- Be prepared to assist the autocrat in planning and organizing the next Baronial Champions event.
- Declare his/her intention to compete for Champion during the registration process.

Herein lists the duties of such Champions:

Arts and Sciences Champion:

- Regularly represent the Barony of Atenveldt in competitions. This does not mean the champion must enter EVERY available competition, but that they should set an example for the populace with regular activity in the Arts and

- Sciences. It is expected that the champion enter a minimum of 2 competitions outside of the Barony of Atenveldt.
- Create two items of Baronial Regalia during their term of service. The champion will consult with Their Excellencies to determine what items are needed, taking into account the talents of the champion.
- Teach classes in the Arts and Sciences in their area(s) of expertise. It is expected that some classes will be taught at an A&S collegium and/or Estrella War.
- Advise Their Excellencies on the contributions of the artisans within the Barony.
- Promote Activity in the Arts and Sciences within the Barony of Atenveldt by encouraging and inspiring the artisans and potential artisans to participate in the available competitions, classes, and other events.

Hardsuit and Rapier Champions:

- Stand court at Baronial events. If the champion is attending an event where the Baron and Baroness are also in attendance, you may be asked to stand with them during courts.
- Expected to enter a minimum of 2 tournaments outside of the borders of the Barony of Atenveldt as the representative of our Barony. These may be Kingdom or Baronial level, preferably smaller tournaments in other Baronies, as well as King's Champion, Queen's Champion, or Crown Tournament.
- Coordinate with the Baron and Baroness as to when you will fight alongside them at events such as Estrella, Southern, Highlands and others.
- Advise Their Excellencies on matters relating to the hardsuit and rapier participants and seek ways to further grow these communities within the Barony.
- Will plan and coordinate bi-monthly tourneys at the Wednesday night fighter practice. The tourneys will alternate between Rapier and Hardsuit and will fall on the last Wednesday of the month.
- Will boldly and often wear the colors and regalia of the position, attend courts whenever possible, and meet challenges as needed.

A Suggested Time Table for any Future, First Time Autocrats

From a first time autocrat that learned
the hard way and is still learning

BY: Lord Jean Andre' Boeye'

This is an overview of all the suggestions made to me by those far more experienced to correct my rookie mistakes before, during and after the event. There were many people that helped me along the way and the after the event autocrat staff meeting was truly enlightening. This is where I learned the most. I have also had several people make suggestions since the event to help me streamline the process in the future and this is by no means my work, but a collection of all the good advice that I received. Some of it took repeated reminders from several people who will be thanked at the end of this article to finally get through.

The first thing I will say is that the time table can be condensed if you have the staff to do so by shortening things from 10 months down to eight. Just take everything from the list for 10 months, 9 months, and 8 months and do all of it in the 8 month area. You should not attempt to condense it down any further because this would make it very difficult to get the bid completed and turned in on time. You will also find that you want to be able to spread things out and double check yourselves as often as possible between the time the bid is approved and two months before the event.

8 months before event:

First week: give staff and yourself a week off and time to gather the information that they will need to complete their assigned task.

Second week: Gather all information and compare notes. If somebody things they can come up with a better price on something, give them a week to find it. As a group, start working on an extreme rough draft of the article you will need for publication. Thank your staff.

Third week: Another staff meeting. Start working on rough draft of the budget form. You can find out average attendance at your event in past years by contacting the exchequer. Always presume on at least 10% less participation when figuring out your budget in the income area but figure on at least 10% more participation when deciding how many site favors to make. Thank your staff.

Fourth Week: Get event registration application form, event budget forms, cash advance forms, and cash voucher/reimbursement forms from the exchequer, deputy exchequer or on line. Check with best three sites to make sure that they are still available and at the price you were originally quoted. Finalize your plans, Time to get the bid in is very quickly running out. Finish rough draft for your article. Thank your staff one more time.

while the fourth had been born only a month. The baby was a strapping lass with a single curl of red upon her head and eyes that shined blue even in the darkest of nights. Unlike other children who had to be taught to smile this child smiled all the time and rarely did she fuss. Those who looked upon the child seemed to catch whatever joy that she carried inside her and walked away feeling uplifted and rejuvenated. Joy and happiness was the child's gift and she handed it out like priest hands out bread on Sundays.

Her father, proud as he was of his three sons was prouder still of this new daughter born to him and would take any opportunity to show her off. Her mother, though, being wise and meek (as most Scottish women were) showered her attention on her sons so they would not be jealous of the angel that she had bore. She had no reason to fear though. For the brothers of the child loved their sister with all their hearts and were as proud as their father. So to the world they named the child Joy, and it was fitting name for such a lovely lass.

Now though the husband and the sons and even the daughter were of stout strong stock, the mother was not. She was often frail and sickly and though full of love, she spent sometimes hours during the day resting for she was plagued with headaches. The love, though of the drover for his wife, caused him to seek help in the raising of his new born and of the keeping of the house. He felt that fate was unkind to deliver such troubles on his lovely wife while filling his children and himself with such great physical ability. As the headaches worsened, the Drover had no choice but to hire from the local village, a lass to help his wife.

All the girls of the village (of whom there were only eight) came to the house to apply. The Drover, who was wise in the ways of women allowed his wife to pick the one who would keep the house. He knew if he picked the lass then till the end of his days his wife would question his fidelity to her. The wife being wise in ways of men picked a course lass with jet black hair whose father had been welsh. She knew her husband's tastes and was not threatened by the woman who would come into her home. Her husband the drover honored his wife's wishes and hired the lass on sight.

The lass, though comely, was not unpleasant of spirit and was humble. She labored hard in all she had ever done and had been taught to keep a home by her mother as all good mothers taught their daughters. She was fifteen and still unmarried not for any scandalous reason but because all of the men were currently at war and those that remained in the area had no interest in her. Her one down fall was her mind. She was exceptionally bright and according to her father she was too smart for her own good.

When she was seven she had stolen sacred books from the little parish and had taught herself to read. Later when she had returned the books she had argued with the priest over what the will of God was. Her brain was constantly thirsty and questioning of all that surrounded her. She listened to every story that was ever told and logged in her fantastic mind all details of things both true and untrue. Her father being a victim of the wars had only one leg and would sit around the fire every night drink his homemade porter and recount every story he had ever heard. He would then make up stories and her overactive brain would drink up every word he ever spoke.

Her favorite stories were scary ones and after such a story she would stay up for hours on end looking out the window of her little room (which she shared with her two sisters) and wonder what she would do if ever in a situation like the one she had heard from her father.

Her father and mother were pleased that the lass would be moving out of their home for though they loved her they were very poor and finding the food to feed all their children was always a hassle. They had a fine name and were descended from an ancient line of Welsh Kings by the name of Lear and their daughters name was Katherine.

The day Katherine said goodbye was a tearful one and her mother kissed her feet and made them promise to bring the girl home. Katherine said that she would not forget and with a rag tied her belongings to a stick and went to live with the drovers on the other side of Dog Creek. The girl was excited for the prospect of living with such a fine family and though they gave her residence in the top of their stable it would be a fine warm place to sleep with plenty of good straw to keep her warm.

Katherine Lear had also been promised to receive two full meals a day to eat and a single shilling a week. In return she was to keep house mend the clothes and care for the child. She never dreamed that fate would bless her with so much and with trepidation the girl named Lear steeled herself to ensure that she would work hard and work well and obey her new masters better than she did her parents.

To be continued in the November Issue of the Palm Prints

The Barony of Atenveldt will be sponsoring a Haunted Tent at the Baronial Champions event on Saturday, October 23rd. If you are interested in donating decorations (they will be returned) or in helping to "scare" the children of the Baronies of Atenveldt and Twin Moons, please contact Her Excellency Baroness Annalies.

Youth Champion:

Expected to enter youth competitions as a representative of the Barony at the discretion of Their Excellencies and his/her Guardians.

Promote youth activity within the Barony by encouraging others to participate in available competitions, classes and other events.

All those contending for Baronial Champion will be expected to have a brief interview with the Baron and Baroness. Due to time constraints, Their Excellencies wish to interview any entrants who want to declare for Champion prior to the event. To set-up an interview please contact Their Excellencies. Champions will be selected based on demonstrated skill in their category and a genuine desire to serve the Barony in this manner.

We know that those who accept the challenge of contending for Baronial Champion will receive rich rewards. We look forward to a hardy and passionate competition.

This Month's Word/Phrase is: Champion

Submitted by:
Lady Kirsten Matz

Champion: The usage of champion first appears in the 13 century. It seems that several sources agree that the word originated from the word campus, which at that time did not refer to an educational institution. Instead, campus referred to a “field” or specifically a “field of battle.” Participation on said field of battle was considered an honor and the victor was therefore more honorable. You can see then the progression to champion being the victor.

Estrella War Gatebook

ART! Deadline Dec. 6, 2010

by: "Mineko Murai" mineko.murai@gmail.com

Greetings from the Estrella War Promotions Office!

The Tradition of Estrella War continues for 2011 with Estrella XXVII. Another tradition of Estrella is the event gatebook which contains all the information attendees need to enjoy Estrella to its fullest; this is given to everyone who attends.

For 2011 we are seeking cover art and small designs to feature throughout the book. We want to give artists from all attending Kingdoms multiple opportunities to have their work published.

This Estrella will see the Principal Kingdoms of Atenveldt and Outlands come together to meet, greet and compete in the great game of the SCA. Every book is judged by its cover and this is your chance to have your artwork seen by a 3000+ audience.

Art specifications are listed below. If you have any questions please contact the Estrella Gatebook editor, Dame Anita de Challis, at gatebook@estrellawar.org

Cover Art

- This can be hand-drawn or computer generated
- Must be black & white, or grayscale with enough weight and clarity for printing.
- Design must reflect Estrella XXVII; or the Kingdoms of Atenveldt & Outlands (Caid & Artemisia will also attend); or reflect the activities that take place at Estrella War.
- Design must fit into 7.5" wide by 10" high space.
- We need a design for the front cover. If there is no paid advertising, there will be space for a piece on the back cover.
- All artwork must have a completed and signed artist's release before it can be published. Don't forget to sign your work.
- Camera Ready art must be submitted in graphic format (jpeg, tiff, photoshop, illustrator) at 300 dpi

- Paper artwork must be suitable for scanning – max size 8.5x11, pure white paper, no tears or folds.
- The EW Gatebook reserves the right to reject or artwork. Artwork will be refused if it is offensive, displays illegal organizations or activities; if it maligns identifiable persons, races, religions, or professions.
- Designs may not used to promote a professional business or service. Paid advertising space is available.
- All artwork must have a completed and signed artist's release before it can be published. Request release from the Gatebook Editor.

Interior Art

- We are looking for small designs that can be used as corner decors, page dividers, marginalia, or 'comic strips'.
- This can be hand-drawn or computer generated
- Must be black & white, or grayscale with enough weight and clarity for printing.
- Artwork can be decorative and/or humorous – reflecting history, Estrella War culture or SCA culture.
- All artwork must have a completed and signed artist's release before it can be published. Don't forget to sign your work.
- Camera Ready art must be submitted in graphic format (jpeg, tiff, photoshop, illustrator) at 300 dpi
- Paper artwork must be suitable for scanning – max size 8.5x11, pure white paper, no tears or folds.
- The EW Gatebook reserves the right to reject or artwork. Artwork will be refused if it is offensive, displays illegal organizations or activities; if it maligns identifiable persons, races, religions, or professions.
- Designs may not used to promote a professional business or service. Paid advertising space is available.
- All artwork must have a completed and signed artist's release before it can be published. Request release from the Gatebook Editor.

Dragon's Horde

October 9-10, 2010

Tucson, AZ

The foul smell of brimstone is once again starting to upset the peace of the lands and unsettling rumblings can be heard in the distance. The whispered word is that the evil spawn that once ravished the land at their whim, are once again descending on this fair barony. So sharpen your weapons and spend your last moments with your loved ones as these ravenous beasts have been known to devour all but a lucky few who oppose them. Will you be the one that will live on in history as the defeater of one of these beasts? Or will your bones bleach and return to the earth with only the lament of your loved one to remember you by, if they survive the onslaught...
The day draws near so ready yourself!

That evening all citizens surviving the devouring creatures are invited to share their misery and loss by gathering together and sharing music and dance to drive away the fear if only for a short time.

There is planned to be an exchange of goods no longer useful, or surplus and an auction of items to raise funds to help support the barony in these trying times.

The day after the great slaughter, dragon or human, there will be the clash of monsters. The denizens of the dark pits will be fighting over the bones and offal left from the previous days horrific battles. So beware while looking for the body or parts of your loved ones. There still will be grave danger to be found upon the field.

The info on the event:

October 9th and 10th 2010 are the dates set for this event.

At Himmel Park in Tucson, AZ

Site opens at 9:00 am

Court at 10am with fighting to start at 11 pm.

Site fee Site fee for the entire weekend will be $5 members and $10 non-members

Directions:

The event will be held in the North East corner of the park and to the South of the Himmel Park library.

1035 North Treat Avenue

Tucson, AZ 85716

For the dragon tourney:

Each fighter will choose to fight any dragon for a fee for as many times as they wish. The dragons will take turns on the field until there are no more challenges or 4pm.....which ever comes first.

There is as a $1 red dragon $5 for the white/ gold dragon fee per fight.

This year the populace can bid to see a fighter fight any dragon up to three times only, per

Baronial Champion & Chatelaine/Steward

Barony of SunDragon

October 22 – 25, 2010

It's that time once again for SunDragon's Baronial Champion and Chatelaine/Steward Competition. Come join us at a new location which will be at: J Lazy K Ranch in Goodyear, AZ. Come camp with family and enjoy watching the competition.

Everyone may participate in the weekend's activities and events. Only paid members of SunDragon may compete for Champion and Chatelaine/Steward.

Competition categories are: Dance, Bardic, Heraldry, Calligraphy and "The Dreaded WrittenTest". Everyone wishing to be on the court and guard will need to participate in these categories as well as individual style champions and youth champions.

For those declaring for Champion they must also participate in all styles of combat (armored, rapier, and archery) along with the competition categories.

For those declaring for Chatelaine/Steward must also create a simple embroidery project on site and prepare a dessert on site along with the competition categories.

Letters of Intent are encouraged and Their Excellencies will accept these prior to the event starting.

Potluck Feast: The traditional potluck feast will be held on Saturday Oct. 23 at 6 pm-ish. Modern last name begins A-H (main dish), I-P (side dish), Q-Z (dessert). Please bring enough to feed 6-8 people.

Site: J Lazy K Ranch, 5001 W. Perryville Rd, Goodyear, Az 85338. Site will open at 4 p.m. on Friday, Oct. 22 and close at 6 p.m. on Sunday Oct. 24. The standard SCA curfew will be enforced. The site is wet. Pets must be leashed at all times. The site does have other animals that do roam freely. Fire pits must be at least 12 inches above the ground and with heat deflectors to prevent damage to the site.

Site fees: Adults (17+ years of age) $15 with proof of membership, there will be an additional $5.00 fee for nonmembers and those without proof of membership. Youth 12-17 are $5.00. Youth under 12 are free.

Defenders'

Barony of Twin Moons

October 22-23, 2010

As the harvest moon once again makes her way across the desert sky, Their Excellencies Morgan and Elizabeth of the Barony of Twin Moons invite you to join Them as They hold tournaments to name the new Defenders of the Lunar Barony. Defenders will be chosen during this weekend event for: hardsuit, rapier, archery, arts and sciences, standard bearer, youth combat, and youth arts and sciences. The Barony's Shield of Chivalry will also be announced during this exciting traditional event!

As in years past, the Arts and Sciences competition will take place on the Sunday preceding Defenders' weekend, on October 17th. This portion of the competition will take place at the home of Their Excellencies. Members wishing to compete for Baronial A&S Defender will need to declare their intent in writing by September 25th, and enter a minimum of three different entries. Acceptable categories for entries can be found on the Barony of Twin Moons website. Documentation for each entry is required. Entrants must also agree to display their work so that the populace may choose their favorite on the Saturday of Defenders' Weekend, October 23rd.

Hardsuit, Rapier, Standard Bearer, and Youth Combat tournaments will be held on Saturday. The Archery tournament will take place on site on Sunday morning.

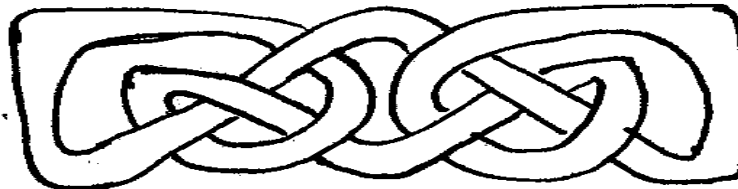

Immediately following Court on Saturday evening, m'lord Nicholas and m'lady Alewyn will exchange their marriage vows, to be followed by the traditional Baronial Potluck dinner!

This glorious event will take place at Schnepf Farms, 24810 South Rittenhouse Road, Queen Creek, AZ 85242. This site is wet, pets are allowed on leashes, fires are allowed in above ground pits, and all SCA and modern curfews will apply.

Site fees: $15 for members
 $20 for non-members
 $7 for youth (5-17)
 Youth under 5 are free.

Entrance to the Chili Festival is not included in this site fee.

Southern Crusades XII

Gods and Monsters

November 11-15, 2010

Winkelman, AZ

Description

The Barony of Tir Ysgithr and the Barony March of Mons Tonitrus would like to invite all to join us in the Current Middle Ages. Southern Crusades will take place at Winkelman Flats Park in Winkelman, AZ.

Rumours abound in the southern lands! The old gods have reappeared and have brought their monsters with them! Poseidon, Charybdis and the Kraken patrol our waters. Hera has unleashed Medusa. The Minotaur thunders in the mazes! Satyrs and centaurs and dragons...oh, my! Where are the heroes to combat these threats? Where is our Jason, our Hercules, our Achilles, our Medea, our Penthesilea, our Argonauts?

Pan and the nymphs will cavort at the drum and dance competition. Thamyris, Calliope and Amphion will challenge the Muses in the bardic competition. Arachne and Athena will compete in the arts and sciences. Apollo, Artemis, Antiopeia, Paris and Pandarus will loose their arrows...

The southern baronies invite you to join us in our battle against the Olympians, at Southern Crusades XII, upon the battlefield at Winkelman Flats Park in Winkelman, AZ. As usual, whether you are a fighter, a bard, an archer, a cook, an artisan, a youth, a child, a dancer, a drummer, a butcher, a baker, a candlestick maker...Southern Crusades will have a little bit of something for everyone to do. There will also be a newcomer's encampment open to anyone who is interested.

Site Fees: Adult members: $20 if pre-registered on ACCEPS; $30 at the gate. Youth members (5-17): $8. Children (Under 5): Free. Family Cap (Available ONLY via pre-registration on ACCEPS): $55. To be eligible for the family camp, all registrants must be current members living at the same physical address and include no more than two (2) adults and any number of their children. Day Trip: $15 per day. Non-Member Surcharge: $5.

Yule Court

Barony March of Mons Tonitrus

December 11, 2010

Greetings from Their Excellencies Heinrich and Juliana, Baron and Baroness of the Barony March of Mons Tonitrus. Hail and well met!

Once again the Barony March of Mons Tonitrus will be having its annual Yule Court on Dec. 11th at the Elgin Community Club in Elgin, AZ. We are looking forward to going to this site again. It is a beautiful site perfect for this occasion. The site will open at 4:00 P.M. and close at 11:00 P.M.

It will be a full formal Court with a processional of those attending.

The site holds 110 people and we have ACCEPS up for reservations. The cut off to RSVP will be November 30th. The fee for adults will be $10.00, adult non member $15.00, youth (aged 5-17) $6.00, youth (under 5) free. Feast fee included in the above site fee. This site is wet.

The feast will be a period menu, including: Breads, cheeses and spreads; followed by 4 courses: course 1: soups & breads; course 2: meat and veggie pasties; course 3: poultry and veggies; course 4: desserts (menu is subject to change). The feast will be hosted by the Barony's Cooking Guild.

Included in our traditions for feast is our display of decadent desserts, where all attending bring a dessert to share. It can be your most researched period dessert or your favorite recipe. We ask that you please use wooden or metal trays or plates and decorations appropriate to medieval Yule. Remember for our purposes chocolate is period!

After feast, we will have period ballroom dancing and socializing. Some music will be provided by the Strong Oak Consort. Please come join us as we gather to celebrate Yule.

Directions: From Sierra Vista- take Highway 90 North and turn left (west) on Highway 82. Go approximately 10 miles to the Elgin turnoff, turn left (south) and go about 5 miles and cross the bridge. The club will be on the hill with the driveway directly in front of you. From Nogales- Take Highway 82 east about 9 miles past Sonoita to the Elgin turn off. Turn right (south) and go about 5 miles and cross the bridge. The Club will be on the hill with the driveway directly in front of you. From Tucson and points North- take I-10 to exit 281(Highway 83) and go South for 25 miles to the intersection of Highway 83 and 82. Turn left (east) on 82. Go about 5 miles and cross the bridge. The Club will be on the hill with the driveway directly in front of you.
