Words from Their Excellences

Greetings and Well Met, Populace of the Barony of Atenveldt!

Our Stewardship continues to amaze Us. The Wednesday Night Fighter Practices continue to grow and there were a few new gentles that were interested in fighting and got armoured up for the first time. By the way they bounced off of the field, they surely enjoyed themselves.

Our second excursion to First Fridays was quite successful. There were 10 of Our Baronial Family in attendance with us. Many modern people were met, given flyers and some even took pictures of Jean-Andre in his armour. We invite all who are interested to join Us again on Friday, September 7th at the corner of 5th St. and Roosevelt in downtown Phoenix.

We attended RenMan in The Barony of Sundragon. What a lovely, relaxed event. The competitors in all events were astounding and the games were quite fun.

The following weekend, we attended Mace & Greatsword in The March Barony of Mons Tonitrus. The site was phenomenal! The camp was set at the base of the Huachuca Mountains in the trees with a running creek. As always, Their Majesties courts were quite entertaining. It was made apparent that everyone is a better bastard sword fighter than Will Morgan.

Crown Tourney was held in The Barony of Erud Sul. There was quite the list. Four erichs were run to accommodate the numbers of combatants. Count Sir Tristan fought valiantly to become Atenveldt's Crown Prince. It was explained in song by Master Yonatan that His Highness Tristan is the "Prince Who Brings the Storm" as thunder clapped in the final round it began to rain just as the tournament ended.

His Excellency will be attending Battlemoor III in the Kingdom of the Outlands and taking with him a few gifts to His Majesty Flanagan to showcase the talents of Our talented populace.

We hope to see all at The Barony of Atenveldt's Anniversary on September 22, 2012. The autocrats have been working diligently to ensure that it will truly be a memorable event.

Champions is rapidly approaching. Examples as to how to declare to compete for the various Champion status will be released very soon. Declarations should be sent by Anniversary.

Forever Inspired by the Populace of The Barony of Atenveldt

Help Wanted

The pen is mightier than the sword. Here is your chance to prove it. Do you like posting interesting articles? Do you want to let the barony know where help is needed? Would you like to keep people informed about upcoming events or who is who in the barony? Well here is a golden opportunity to do just that. The barony has an immediate need of a chronicler and emergency deputy. Duties include putting out a monthly issue of the Palm Prints to be posted on line and on the website, and made available for paper copy, attending business meetings and reporting to the Kingdom Chronicler and Baronial Seneschal monthly. Meet new people and get to have first-hand information about what is going on. Open to 9/30/2012

To web or not to web; that is the question. Are you just itching to play on a computer and help the barony at the same time? Do you know anything about websites? Well we are in need of a new web minster. Candidates should have some experience in updating and maintaining a website, be able to attend business meetings and be able to file reports with the Kingdom Web Minister and the baronial seneschal monthly. Open to 9/30/2012

All the world is but a stage...A stage means a play. Speaking of play, do you like to play games? Are you a kid at heart? Do you have an interest in helping the children of the barony? The barony is seeking a youth coordinator and a youth combat marshal. . Both positions must pass an SCA background check. The Chancellor of Youth Activities would handle non fighting children's activities; send reports to the Kingdom Youth Minister and the baronial seneschal. The youth combat marshal would run the youth combat, report to the appropriate kingdom officer, the baronial knight marshal and the baronial seneschal each month. Both should be able to attend business meetings. Open until filled

The seneschal needs help! (Insert crude comment here) Help run the Barony! Help is needed with regnum change, event bid assistance, keeping track of reports or taking notes and typing up the minutes. We are looking for several individuals who can split up these tasks. Work closely with Their Excellences and the seneschal. We are also looking for somebody to train to as the Emergency Deputy Seneschal. These officers should be able to attend business meetings. Open till filled

Cut, Parry, Thrust Parry: The barony is looking for a rapier marshal. Officer must be an authorized rapier marshal and will fill out monthly reports to the Kingdom Rapier Marshal, the Baronial knight marshal and the baronial seneschal. Ability to attend business meetings is a plus.

Clang, Clang The Knight Marsahls warrant will be expiring soon so we are taking letters of intent. You should have knowledge of Kingdom of Atenveldt armored combat rules, be able to attend business metings, keep up a data base and report to the baronial seneschal monthly and the Kingdom Earl Marshal Quarterly.

Please send letters of intent to Their Excellences and the seneschal.

Beginners Guide to Making Your First Mead Inexpensively

Like brewing and making wine, mead making can be expensive. Glass carboys, fermenting pails, special yeasts, varietal honey, tubing, bottling, pH meters, hydrometers, etc. can all add up quickly when first starting out, and like the kids who go out and spend thousands of dollars on a cool guitar and amplifier setup to sound like Eddie Van Halen (and end up not sounding anywhere close), you might find that you don't have the time or the desire to pursue home brewing.

The recipe I will present to you today can be using items you probably have in your kitchen and even if you don't the next time you go on a grocery run, they can be found at your local store.

Items you will need:

- 1 gallon seal-able container preferably a glass apple cider jug
- 3½ pounds of honey
- 1 large orange
- 25 raisins (make sure they don't have sulphites added as preservatives)
- 1 gallon of water (preferably spring water)
- 1 stick of cinnamon
- 1 clove (2 if you must, but they are potent)
- Pinch of nutmeg and allspice
- 1 packet of bread yeast
- 1 balloon

See, everything you need can be obtained from most home kitchens. You can even use a clean 1 gallon water jug; although one that has had milk in it will need to be cleaned out really well.

History:

I will not go into the history of Mead here. Rather I will point you in the direction of the Internet where a simple search will give you a lot of information. Suffice it to say, Mead fell out of popularity with the advances in wine, but over the last several years, it has been making a steady comeback. Several micro-wineries and even some large scale wineries have added making Mead to their list of offerings.

Where do I go after I make my first mead?

JOA is a simple recipe meant to make a quick, pleasant tasting Mead. You can continue to make batches whenever the mood hits you, or you can (with a small investment) purchase some specific wine and mead yeasts, varietal honeys (honey from a single source – mesquite, orange blossom, clover, etc), an airlock and start making some of your own creations.

The recipe:

Original Gravity: 1.100 approx.

Final Gravity: 1.030 approx.

Primary Fermentation: 2 months

Ancient Orange Mead (by Joe Mattioli)

1 gallon batch

- 3 ½ lbs clover or your choice of honey or blend (will finish sweet)
- 1 large orange (later cut in eighths or smaller rind and all)
- 1 small handful of raisins (25 if you count but more or less ok)
- 1 stick cinnamon

- 1 whole clove (or 2 if you like – these are potent critters)
- optionally a pinch of nutmeg and allspice (very small)
- 1 teaspoon of Fleishmann's bread yeast (now don't get holy on me – after all this is an ancient mead and that's all we had back then)
- Balance water to one gallon

Process:

Use a clean 1 gallon carboy.

Dissolve honey in some warm water and put in corboy.

Wash orange well to remove any pesticides and slice in eights – add orange (you can push them through opening – rinds included – its ok for this mead – take my word for it – ignore the experts)

Put in raisins, clove, cinnamon stick, any optional ingredients and fill with water to 3 inches from the top with cold water. (need room for some foam – you can top off with more water after the first few days frenzy)

Shake the heck out of the jug with the top on, of course. This is your sophisticated aeration process.

When at room temperature in your kitchen, put in the 1 teaspoon of bread yeast. (No, you don't have to rehydrate it first – the ancients didn't even have that word in their vocabulary – just put it in and give it a gentle swirl or not)(the yeasts can fight for their own territory)

Install water airlock. Put in dark place. It will start working immediately or in an hour. (Don't use grandma's bread yeast she bought years before she passed away in the 90's)(Wait 3 hours before you panic) After major foaming stops in a few days add some water and then keep your hands off of it. (Don't shake it! Don't mess with them yeastes! Let them alone except its okay to open your cabinet to smell every once in a while.)

Racking – Don't you dare!

Additional feeding – NO NO!

More stirring or shaking – You're not listening, don't touch!

After 2 months and maybe a few days it will slow down to a stop and clear all by itself. (How about that, you are not so important after all) Then you can put a hose with a small cloth filter on the end into the clear part and siphon off the golden nectar. If you wait long enough even the oranges will sink to the bottom but I never waited that long. If it is clear it is ready. You don't need a cold basement. It does better in a kitchen in the dark. (Like in a cabinet) Likes a little heat (70-80F). If it didn't work out... you screwed up and didn't read my instructions (or used grandma's bread yeast she bought years before she passed away). If it didn't work out then take up another hobby. Mead is not for you, it is to complicated.

If you were successful, which I am 99% certain you will be, then enjoy your mead. When you get ready to make a different mead you will probably have to unlearn some of these practices I have taught you, but hey – This recipe and procedure works with these ingredients so don't knock it. It was your first mead. It was my tenth. Sometimes, even the experts can forget all they know and make a good ancient mead.
