

Chronus Draconum

A Final Baronial Missive

Beloved SunDragon Populace,

The has come to pass the torch, & the coronets to YOUR new Baroness & Baron, Valdisa & Wolff. We are excited in anticipation of the future of SunDragon under their leadership. The past several weeks have been challenging as events have been cancelled & long established plans have been thwarted by the dreaded “beer plague.” Having to cancel Mixed Weapons War was an immense disappointment to Us & to Our heirs, as We had hoped to provide all of the pomp & revelry that an investiture deserves. In the coming weeks, their Excellencies have graciously afforded Us the opportunity to make Our final recognitions to the members of the populace that We had intended on recognizing prior to Our stepping down. We have so many people to thank for their contributions to Our tenure on the Rainbow Thrones, & to the Barony of SunDragon. rest assured, your efforts will be acknowledged. Additionally, Their Royal Majesties, Morgan & Elizabeth, have generously allowed Us a few minutes in Their final court to make a special recognition. If you are able to attend coronation, We would love to have you share in this joyous acknowledgement.

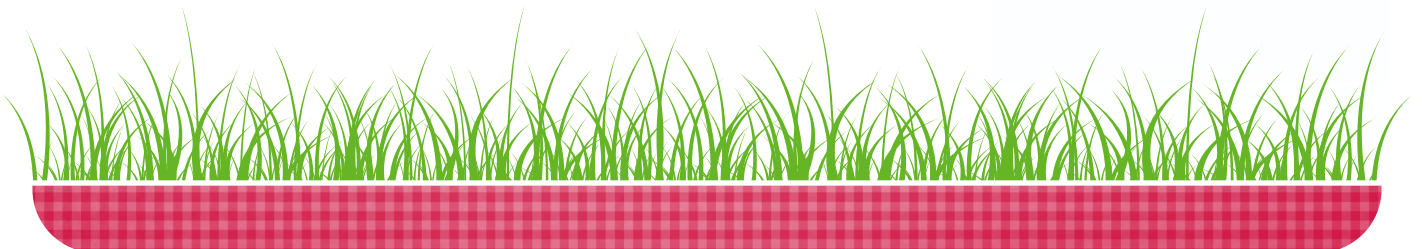

When We stepped up as Baroness & Baron, We did so with excitement & a bit of terror. Since We knew that were relative newcomers to the barony (compared to a large portion of its populace), We were acutely aware of the importance of respecting the traditions that were established years, & even decades before We arrived here, We were nervous in taking on this immense responsibility. We also had a vision for the future of the barony, & for the enhancement of the family culture it was famous for.

One of Our favorite memories of the day was presenting one of the awards for the (unofficial) mixed drink competition to Lady Emma Makeblise. The event was at Bumblebee Ranch, & when We were presenting the awards for the competition, Emma had left the camp to use the privy. We proceeded to the stone privy, with Our retinue in tow,

Our herald kicked open door, & promptly opened our court. We could hear Emma's voice from inside one of the stalls shouting out in startled embarrassment. From well outside the privy We assured her that she could remain seated, & We proceeded in announcing her award.

Another cherished memory was at Highlands War a few months later. It had been a difficult event for Us. It was our first large event since stepping up, & We had been fairly stressed out since arriving on site. On Saturday evening after dinner, the members of the barony who were present sat around the campfire enjoying each other's company & eventually it turned into a bardic circle. As We were singing & storytelling, We heard, in the darkness nearby, a familiar voice. It was none other than Malcolm the Bold chatting with a few of his friends as they passed by. We invited them all to join Our impromptu bardic gathering, which they did joyously. Every one of them shared something to perform, &, of course, Malcolm regaled Us with a few of his tales. His final one being his story of the Thousand-Thousand (one We highly recommend you ask him to tell). It was uniquely inspiring, & it reminded Us why continue to participate in this organization. It completely changed what was looking like a dreadful event into one that we will compare all others to. We decided on the spot to award Master Malcolm with the FULL Dragon's Scale, his first ever baronial award.

The past three years have been filled with challenges & setbacks, but those were greatly overwhelmed by the joy We felt in seeing the populace thrive, & seeing its members achieve greatness in every facet of the organization. Being your Baroness & Baron has truly been one of the most rewarding experiences We have had in the SCA.

Now, as Our hair greys, Our eyes become cloudy, & Our backs become bent, We must retire to Valhalla, where We will be met by Our forebears, & will rejoice in the memory of our time on the Rainbow Thrones, & in Our optimism of the years to come.

Now, for the last time, We raise a cup, &, to quote an old Irish toast: "We would implore to never lie, cheat, or steal. But if you must lie, lie in the arms of the one you love. If you must cheat, cheat death. And if you must steal, steal the moments that take your breath away."

Until good fortune returns Us to your beloved company, We remain:

Yours in service to the Barony, the Kingdom, & the Dream,

Words from the Armored Combat Champion of SunDragon

Hail to the barony of SunDragon!

This is your armored combat champion here, with the onset of corona hitting our glorious home of Atenveldt we are left in our homes and tents wondering what we can do with the time that the heralds and leadership have given us when told to stay home. For those who are fighters this is an especially devastating thing as we do not have the ability to practice our skills to get stronger and better on the field of battle when our barony or kingdom calls for our arms. With this being said, here are a few things to help you stay in form when it comes to fighting. Now use these as you wish or please modify them & let everyone know about the modification to help others as well.

1. Hitting that Pell. Now just hitting the Pell won't do, you'll need to do slow work to train your muscles on where you want your strikes to go. This means planning every shot you do, & the best way to do it is slowly practicing each strike 50 to 100 times. This will help build your muscle memory so when you make your shots your body already knows where to place it easily. To help with that mark where you're going to hit with something like duct tape, a sharpie, or even fabric tacked on to your Pell. Speaking of if you don't have a Pell in your yard keep in mind almost anything can be a Pell within reason. Such as a local park tree or a pillar in your backyard (just note that stucco is bad for rattan & it is not actually recommended to be used with it.)

2. Armor. Many times, fighters have come back after down time & then their armor has either degraded, no longer fits, or is in disrepair. This is the perfect time to do armor maintenance such as re-strapping knee & elbow cops or buffing your helmet of rust even checking to make sure your sticks are in good order. We have the time to make sure everything is in good order so why wouldn't you want to use it to make sure you hit the ground running when this quarantine is lifted?

3. Hit up your knight. If you are looking for additional ideas, hit up your local knight or Marshall on the book of faces. Knights have been in this game for many years & are knights for a reason. They will have different ideas of what you can do from home to improve yourself on the field when you are able to return.

4. Serving. Lastly & this may sound a little strange especially when looking at yourself but hear me out on this. Grab a bowl or plate & with one hand serve the soup or dish. Sounds nuts right? Well when you think about it if you are serving with your main hand it's the same as a flat snap on the field, which can be done from your couch while watching the local heralds on the news. You can also flip it to help your offside shots.

I hope these points help all our amazing fighters here in SunDragon. We will return to your regularly scheduled fighting when the crown believes it is safe. So, until then...

LONG LIVE THE KING, LONG LIVE THE QUEEN, LONG LIVE THE CROWN PRINCE, LONG LIVE THE CROWN PRINCESS, & LONG LIVE THESE SOVEREIGN LANDS OF ATENVELDT!

Yours in Service, LORD Cullen Ellis SUNDRAGON ARMORED CHAMPION

Apple Fritters by Lady Lie du Bosc

First the story and then the recipe.

Many moons ago, at a Baron's War, the original incarnation of the Cook's good was hosting a competition based on period recipes. Now there is a reason my lady mother was known as Mordonna the cook, simply put she loved to cook. But, she, also, suffered from severe helium hand syndrome. Thus, she was rushing to prepare her Apple fritters for the competition. She managed to get them made in time to take them to the competition. However, she did NOT have time to clean her kitchen. So off she goes with her large platter of fresh & hot fritters with the full knowledge that she will have to return & clean the kitchen. Now she did take the precaution of covering the small amount of batter that was left. The fritters were a huge success earning her a solid second place in the competition. (My memory fails to remember who placed first.)

Now my lady mother heads back to camp, with a pardonable glow of pride & a completely empty platter. The thought of returning to a dirty kitchen no longer dismaying her. When what do her horrified & disbelieving eyes see? All the ladies & littles of the camp (& what seemed like most of the rest of SunDragon's non-fighters) cowering in terror at the very back edge of camp. Before them stood all the fighters available from SunDragon's camps in whatever armor they had hastily donned. Now under most circumstances the warriors of our Barony are amount the most Noble, honorable & brave. But this day they stood gapping in fear for never before had they faced anything like this enemy. It was growing rapidly even as stood at my lady mother's side. It bubbled & seemed to growl as it advanced towards the trembling warriors. My lady mother gasps in horror while I fall down in uncontrollable laughter. The huge monstrous enemy was no more than that wee bit of batter that has grown & grown & well you get the idea. And that is the story of how Lady Anne du Bosc known as Mordonna the cook terrified the army of SunDragon.

If you enjoyed the tale (which is only very slightly exaggerated) then I'm sure you will enjoy mom's lent Apple fritters. Please find her recipe below.

"When what do her horrified & disbelieving eyes see?"

From Take a Thousand Eggs or More: a collection of 15th century recipes: by Cindy Renfrew: a translation of medieval recipes from Harleian MS. 279, Harleian MS 4016, and extracts of Ashmole MS. 1439, Laud MS.553, and Douce MS. 55 from Two Fifteenth Century Cookery Books edited by Thomas Austin

Harleian MS. 4016 133 Lente ffrutours.

Take goode floure, Ale yeest, Saffron, and salt, and bete al to-gidre as thick as o(th)er maner frutours of fflesh: and (th)en take appels, and pare hem, and kut hem in maner of ffrutours, and wette hem in (th)e batur vp and downe, and fry hem in oyle, and cast hem in a dissh, and cast sugur (th)eron ynowe, and serue hem forth hote.

Lenten Fritters. Take good flour, ale yeast, saffron, and salt, and beat all together as thick as other manner fritters of flesh: and then take apples, and pare them, and cut them in manner of fritters, and wet them in the batter, up and down, and fry them in oil, and cast them in a dish, and cast sugar thereon enough, and serve them forth hot.

My adaptation: Apple Fritters for Lent

- ◆ 4 medium size apples 2 cups plain flour
- ◆ 8 ounces ale
- ◆ 1 tablespoon active dry yeast
- ◆ a pinch of saffron
- ◆ 2 Tbs. boiling water
- ◆ 1/2 tsp. salt
- ◆ 2 cups vegetable oil
- ◆ 1 cup confectioners' sugar

1. Peel & core apples & cut into thin round slices.
2. Heat ale in a small pan until warm but not hot (body temperature).
3. Add the yeast to the ale.
4. Add the saffron to the boiling water.
5. Add the saffron mix to the ale.
6. Add the salt to the flour, then stir in the ale mix until it forms a batter

7. thick enough to cling to the apples.
8. Allow the batter to rest 20 minutes.
9. Heat the oil until a drop of batter sizzles & rises to the top when added.
10. Dip the apple slices into the batter & drop into the oil a few at a time.
11. Cook until golden brown.
12. Drain briefly on brown paper
13. Place sugar in a bag, add cooked fritters a few at a time & shake to coat.
14. Serve hot.

Notes: I prefer a good multi-purpose apple such as Gala to the more insipid eating apples like Red Delicious. While modern confectioners' sugar contains corn starch, it can be substituted for the very fine sugar often used in dishes like this.

Atenveldt (Unofficial) Parasol Purchase

Lady Aurora is organizing a bulk purchase of canvas parasols that are excellent for events and can be painted or decorated. They're $18 each. Colors include blue, dark green, white, pink, purple, red, yellow, lilac, and light green.

Order form is: <https://forms.gle/u7BCoDq1NYMJGE8x9> . Payment is due by April 12 to pay pal at www.paypal.me/purpull. For more information, visit the parasol Facebook group at <https://www.facebook.com/groups/1747107545524802/>

We weren't planning on ordering until mid-April anyway. I checked with the vendor this week. They are temporarily closed due to the virus but expect to re-open soon and be able to still process our order.

When we get closer to the expected order date, I will work on another update to see if A) they have reopened and B) if people still need more time.

In the group is a spreadsheet, sorted by mundane first name for your orders. Please let know if there are any errors and I will get it fixed. People in yellow I still show as not paid.

Please stay safe out there and let me know if you have any questions. Thank you!
FWIW - Pink is at 6 (yay!!) and Lilac is at 5. I will personally order Lilac to complete the min if needed. It's only the Light Green still at 3.

Thank you! Lady Aurora Faw

StarDust, It's a Family Thing

Family, it's the first word that comes to mind when asked to write about our experiences when we stepped up as the 10th Reign as Baroness and Baron of SunDragon. It was family that convinced us to offer to take on the position. It was family that encouraged us and supported us. It was family that poured out a never ending shower of stardust throughout the three years we sat upon the Rainbow Thrones. But please be reminded just how "unique" our rainbow family is...Wallace is his own great-great-grandfather and also his own great-great-grandson! In SunDragon everyone is related to everyone.

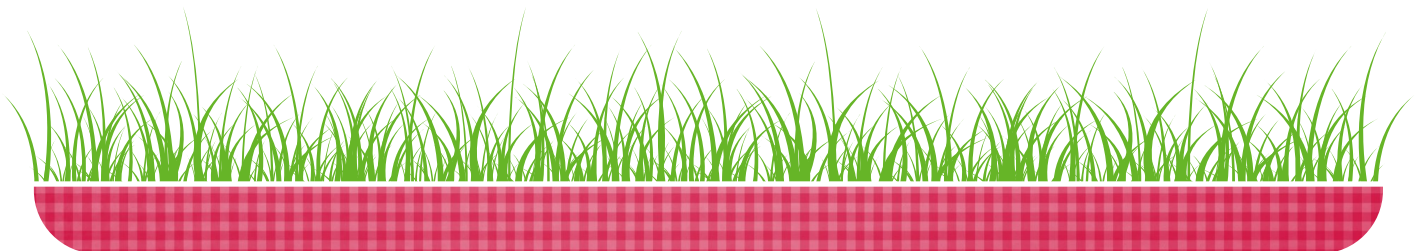

We were specifically asked to write about our Investiture so that an article might be included in the April Chronus. To be honest, so much of that time is still a blur of surprise and wonder and stardust. But there are several things that especially stand out. Using one of our absolute favorite events and sites for both our stepping up and our stepping down, Mixed Weapons War at Bumblebee Ranch. Being asked to support the Equestrian community and sponsoring the first ever Baronial Equestrian Champion event, then being supported by the community as they escorted Viola into Investiture on horseback. Viola, who was the current Baronial rapier Champion, sponsoring a tourney to take her place, then beating everyone who entered that tourney as well, so she served as her own Baronial Rapier Champion until the next Baronial Champions and Chatelaine event.

There are so many fantastic memories that it is almost impossible to single out just one or two, but we will try and do our best. For Wallace, it was exceptionally poignant to be invested by the King who he remembered as being part of the SunDragon band of young punk warriors...back when his grace was just squire Phelan. It also meant the world to us to serve feast to our family as their Baroness and Baron. Viola even made aprons for us to wear.

For Viola, it was being surprised by Dame Hrefna who gifted her with handmade invitations to send out to the mundane family of Wallace and Viola. And the one that melted her heart, the investiture was staged to have Wallace waiting at the edge of court while Viola rode in on horseback with the Equestrian community. Because Wallace is scared to death of an independently minded beast the size of a car who has broken his bones the two times he tried to ride one. Not knowing this, and seeing only Viola coming into court alone, Lord Tomaso de Florentine stepped into the middle of the procession and offered to escort her.

Investiture Memories

The investiture of a Baroness & Baron can be like a wedding ceremony. Think about it:

- Special fancy clothes
- Oaths & pledges
- Shiny accessories
- Photographers everywhere you look

Seriously, that is what it kind of felt like when we stepped up as Baroness & Baron of SunDragon. Ours was kind of a quickie wedding. We didn't really have a lot of time to prepare. It had become necessary for the barony to repoll at Estrella of that year & investiture was at the end of March. We were a little overwhelmed. Thanks to the help of our friends & chosen family, we were able to pull everything together.

March 2014 – Imagine us standing at the back of court. It had already been a long day. The beautiful stepping down of your predecessors. All we could think of was “She rode in on a horse. That was marvelous. We'll never been that regal. We should run away now.” The creation of a deserving Bantheagn of Granite Mountain who in the face of adversity stood tall & strong. Again, the inner voices – “We aren't that strong. We aren't that brave. Where did we park the car?” We stayed though. Mostly because our friends, the people who got us into the mess, were standing around us making sure we didn't run off.

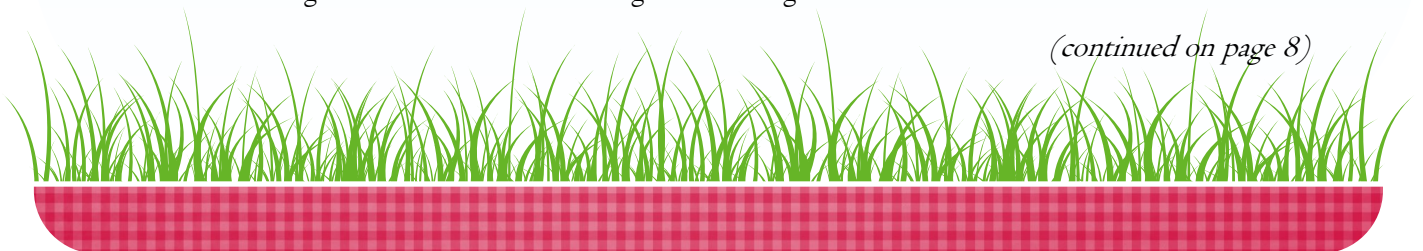

Seriously, walking down the aisle of court we were like a couple of deer in headlights. A dear friend returned to the SCA for a day to herald us into court. We are so glad he gave us a copy of what he said because in no way were we going to recall it. “Don't trip. Not too fast. Not too slow. Is someone actually pushing us down the aisle?” Approaching Their Royal Majesties of Atenveldt, Morgan & Livia, at the time; everything seemed to go silent. All we could hear was our breath. Squeezing each other's hand gave us the strength we needed to take those last few steps.

Saying wedding vows to the person you love makes the moment feel real. Taking the oath to the Kingdom as Baroness & Baron does the same thing. We moved to place our hands upon the sword of state to say our oath. Livia looked down at us & said, “always support”. We flipped our hands over & supported the sword in our hands. This moment will always stay with us. During difficult times, we often repeated to each other “always support” & we hope that we did. The oath is short but powerful:

- Render homage & fealty to the King, Queen & Kingdom of Atenveldt
- Rule the lands justly & honorable in Their name
- Voice the words & desires of the Crown to the populace
- Ensure the needs of the populace are heard by the Crown

When we repeated them, we hoped we could live up to the promise. The Society, Atenveldt & SunDragon had given so much to us over the years. We simply wanted to return the stardust to everyone the best we could. It was a weight we carried with us throughout our reign.

Speaking of stardust, if you were there, you'll remember one of our first acts of Baroness & Baron was to call the children into court. At that time, in SunDragon, there were a lot. We had spent a few nights the week before cutting out circles of tulle & filling them with stardust. We had baskets full. We wanted to give stardust to the populace as a token of the day. Our promise to them to always do our best for them. We gave the baskets to the kids & asked them to throw the little stardust "bombs" out to the populace. What could possibly go wrong?! Let's just say some of those kids probably went on to pitch for the major leagues. We are eternally sorry for any bruises you may have received during the ensuing melee.

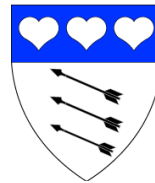

Some good did come out of that ill-conceived plan though. From that moment on, the children of the barony were hooked. We watched them return to event after event. Watched them help those who needed it so they could share more stardust with others. We watched them grown into young men & ladies now taking the lead in guiding our Society & making it a better place. While the kids ran around court, flinging their stardust packets & laughing uncontrollably, we looked at each other & said "We've got this! Let the fun begin."

We our eternal love & always in service to the Dream,

Gwenfrewi & Simon

IIth Baroness & Baron of SunDragon

SunDragon Investiture AS XXVI

March 29th AS XXVI (1992) Arthur and Tamira were invested upon the SunDragon Baronial thrones.

Seven short days after their Majesties Mark and Jacquelyn did elevate myself to the Order of the Chivalry. It was a bright and sunny day if a bit windy. We were dressed in purple cavalier of the highest fashion with the purest of white accents. The event was the "Queen's Birthday." Not her majesties exactly but a day of tournaments called the Queen's Birthday.

In those days I wore my hair long and for the ceremony we wore the original cornets. Stained glass affairs linked together with jump rings. After the event it was necessary to cut them out of my hair. I had two squires and one fought, Joseph, and the other Kyle took advantage of the wind to fly his kite. It was an interesting time in the Kingdom and our Barony. No other knight associated himself with SunDragon and because of this, fighting up to that date had not been a focus. This was to change at least for our tenure. On that day I took on the most important, difficult and rewarding office I have ever held in our society.

Greetings Unto the Populace of SunDragon!

Investiture is now over. It was a bitter-sweet day. Being invested was a once in a lifetime dream for Us; however, not having our chosen family and friends around us left a hole in Our hearts. Our consolation was knowing that Our populace was watching, and We would have an opportunity to come together to celebrate in a few short weeks. If you missed the stepping up and stepping down ceremonies, there is a video on Facebook and photo album.

We would like to thank Banthegn Jacqueline and Thegn Gefroi for the last three years of service. We want to acknowledge their dedication and service. The barony would not be where it is without their efforts.

We look forward to the opportunity that the next three years holds. As We have said, We wish to continue to foster a welcoming, friendly environment where everyone feels genuine support, acceptance, and camaraderie. Our vision is that SunDragon be a place of family, fellowship, and brotherhood.

Lastly, mundane life seems to have overshadowed Our stardust. That is not the case. We are a society that espouses the virtues of courtesy and grace. This is Our opportunity to embrace and embody Our ideals.

We challenge every member of Our barony to reach out to someone you have not heard from in the last year. Call them. Text them. Send them a card through postal mail. Be creative. Pick someone new to reach out to weekly until this emergency is over. If We come together as family, it will be more bearable.

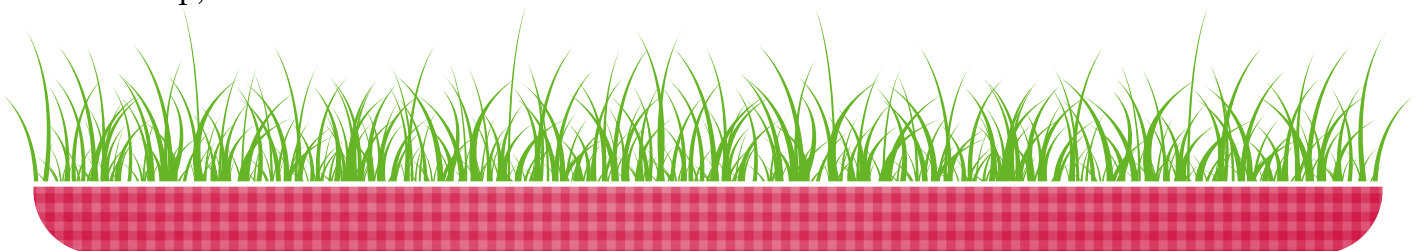

We will get through this. If is not a matter of if We get through this but how.

Yours in Service to the Dream,

Valdisa Wolff

Coronet's Challenge #1

Knot tying is a skill that many people in the pre-industrial era would have had. Knowing the right knot to tie and when to use it is a skill many people are simply not taught today. In youth, knot tying builds hand-eye coordination, fine motor skills, problem solving abilities, and innovation. We challenge anyone that wants to learn knot tying to learn the knots listed below.

Half Knot	Fisherman's Knot	Boat Knot
Half Hitch	Rolling Hitch	Fisherman's Bend
Overhand Knot	Prusik Knot	Constrictor Knot
Slip Knot	Timber Hitch	Killick Hitch
Square Knot	Blood Knot	Rolling Hitch
Granny Knot	Noose Knot	Sailor's Knot
Surgeon's Knot	Solomon Bar Knot	Fisherman's Eye
Clove Hitch	Man Harness Knot	Midshipman's Eye
Bowline Knot	Carrick Bend	Stevedore's Knot
Sheet Bend	Barrel Hitch	Lariat Loop
Lark's Head	Sheepshank	Monkey's fist
Halyard Knot	Tripod Lashing
Taut Line Hitch	Square Lashing

There will be an opportunity to demonstrate your knowledge at Champions 2020 (as well as other future events). All SunDragon populace members that successfully demonstrate how to tie 30 of the above knots (20 for members 17 and under) will receive a token from the Baroness and Baron to demonstrate this achievement.

You have six months to learn. All ages welcome!

If you have any questions, please ask in the SunDragon Arts and Sciences group on Facebook.

SunDragon Solstice Secret Santa Gift Exchange

In addition to the white elephant gift exchange and the ornament exchange, we are going to host SunDragon's first Secret Santa Gift Exchange this Solstice.

This exchange will be modeled after the Nobelese Largesse exchange and other artist gift exchanges.

A survey will be posted in the SunDragon Arts and Sciences Facebook group on or about June 1.

If you wish to participate, complete the survey by June 30th.

You will be matched with another participant in mid-July. Your recipient will not be your artist.

The rules:

Have fun. This is the first rule for a reason.

You DO NOT need to be an "artist" to participate. Do not be concerned that your skills are not to the level you would like them to be. Artists are always their harshest critics, and your recipient will adore something personalized for them.

Keep your recipient a secret. You have six months to stalk your recipient and make them a personalized gift. If you need answers to questions and are concerned asking will raise questions, you can email the baroness & baron any questions you have, and we'll ask your recipient on your behalf.

There will be a $25 materials limit. Please hold yourself to this limit. You can use materials on hand but place a fair market value on those materials.

GIFTS ARE DUE AT SOLSTICE 2020 (tentatively December 12, 2020). If you cannot make Solstice, make arrangements for your gift to be delivered at Solstice.

Have fun. This is the last rule for a reason too.

Watch the Barony of SunDragon group on Facebook for more information. It will be available as we get closer opening the survey.

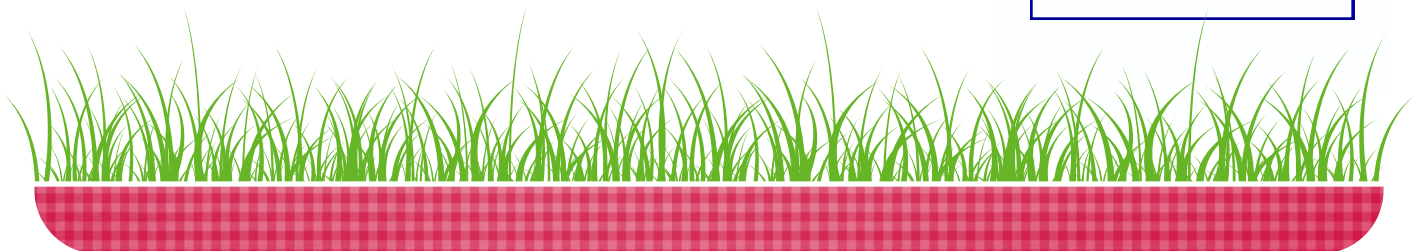

IF YOU CURRENTLY HOLD A BARONIAL WARRANT:

Please email the Baroness, Baron, and the Seneschal. Let us know:

Your current position and warrant end date so that we can compare it with our records to ensure they match.

If you want to continue your warrant. Perhaps life happened. Perhaps you don't like the position. It doesn't matter. There is no shame in stepping away from a warrant. There is no shame or guilt in holding onto your warrant if you enjoy the position.

If your warrant is within 90 days from expiring, please include if you want to extend in your letter.

Baronial Officer Positions are Open!

The barony cannot run without officers. We need you!

If you do not hold a baronial warrant but want to hold a baronial warrant:

Please email the Baroness, Baron, and the Seneschal. Let us know:

The position you are interested in filling.

Note that all officers can have multiple deputies.

Any relevant perks or obstacles to you holding a warrant.

If you do not hold a baronial warrant and do not want to hold a baronial warrant:

Please email the Baroness, Baron, and the Seneschal. Let us know. If not, we may inadvertently yet repeatedly ask if you want to hold a position. It's best to avoid the hassle and send an email. You can change your mind down the road with another email.

If you felt left off from the list above:

We apologize for this oversight. Please email the baronial Seneschal with your detailed complaint.

It's TAX SEASON!

Please "pay" your Kingdom and Baronial "Taxes".

Our largesse and prize pool is running low and needs to be replenished.

The Coronet would like unique and special items suitable for prizes for our populace.

Shoulder bags, shawls, leather water bottles, beaded veils, trim, small knives, beads, bangles, favors for a belt, a belts, etc. If you've ever seen something and thought "I wish I'd had that when I was new" than it would make great largesse.

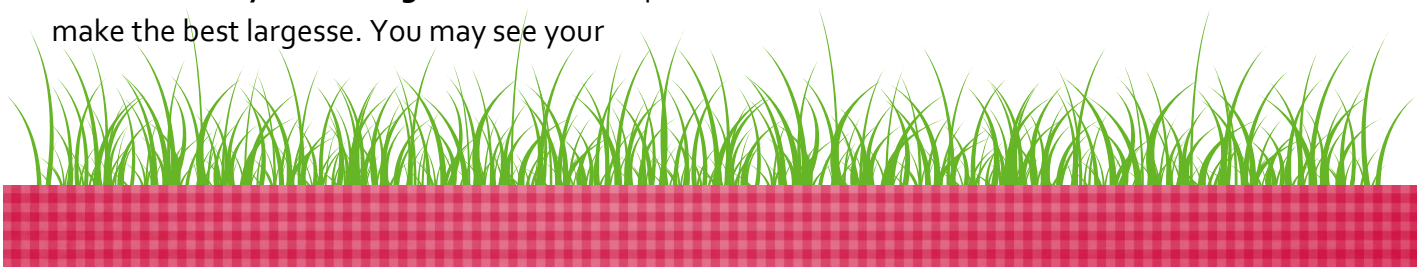

Be creative! Try something new. First attempts make the best largesse. You may see your "mistakes", but your recipient sees the beauty in your art.

Please ensure your largesse is labeled. Please include your SCA name, what the item is, what it is made of (allergen concerns), and any care instructions it might need. You may also wish to include a way to contact you. It is wonderful when you hear from someone you don't know that wants to compliment you on your creation.

No food items please.

If you have any questions, please ask!
